Oilmen Winning Streak Snapped in Loss to Bobcats

Whiting, Ind. – June 27, 2018 – The Oilmen bats that had been so hot over the club's recent record-setting winning streak fell silent on Wednesday night against the Bloomington Bobcats in an 8-0 loss. Bloomington starter Zach Frey was impressive in his outing, surrendering no runs and just three hits over six and one-third innings pitched. Frey's slider seemed to have Oilmen hitters guessing all night. "He was mixing in his off-speed very well especially early in the game," Oilmen assistant coach Matt Vitulli said. "Our guys got to some good fastball counts and he would throw his off-speed to keep us off-balance. Credit to him, he pitched a great game. We just didn't make any adjustments throughout." Brock Immke shut the door on the Oilmen over the final two and two-thirds innings. The right-hander allowed only one hit and struck out four in his relief performance. Unfortunately for the Oilmen, their pitching staff was not nearly as effective as that of their opponents on Wednesday evening. Though Bobby Nowak (Kankakee CC / Cedar Lake, Ind.) allowed two runs on a mere three hits, the starter labored, handing out seven walks over his four innings of work. "He's been getting into high pitch counts to most of the hitters he's faced since he's been with us. Other than that, I think he pitched pretty well despite the walks. I mean they weren't really hitting the ball off of him. It was more defensive errors and walks that got him," Vitulli said. The most pivotal defensive error came in the fifth inning with Sawyer Allen (Hillsdale College / Fair Oaks, Ind.) on the bump in his only inning of work. With one out, a throwing error by CJ Deshazer (Heartland CC / Schaumburg, Ill.) on a routine groundball gave Bloomington life. The Bobcats would come around to touch Allen for three runs in that frame, only one of which was earned. The final three runs of the contest were given up by George Sherman (Dominican / Skokie, Ill.). Bobcat hitters like Eric Kozlowski and Matt Barnes were seeing the ball well out of the hand of the normally shut down lefty. An 8-0 deficit was too much to overcome for an Oilmen offense that never gained any real momentum, scraping together only four hits total. Tom Kelley (Miami (OH) / Orland Park, Ill.), who reached base three times on two hits and a walk, served as the only bright spot in a lineup that was affected by a longer layoff than usual between games due to inclement weather. "A rain delay can either work in your favor or work against you. We were hot on the eight game winning streak and then guys kind of cool off with those extra off days," Vitulli said. The Oilmen will try to get back on track against the DuPage County Hounds on Thursday at Oil City Stadium. First pitch is slated for 7:10 p.m. The game will be airing on the Oilmen Broadcasting Network with Sam Michel and Dan Harty on the call.

Bluffton University has named Sean Elvert as its next head men's soccer coach.

Elvert returns to Bluffton after serving as an assistant men's soccer coach at Ohio Northern University for the past year. The two years prior, he was the assistant men's soccer coach at Bluffton and briefly led the team as the interim head coach. In both assistant roles, he gained significant experience in recruiting, day-to-day operations and player training. He will start head coaching duties in July. "I couldn't be more excited to take on the head coaching responsibility at Bluffton University," said Elvert. "I am focused on developing well-rounded student-athletes who integrate themselves into the campus community, while finding success in and out of the classroom. I want to thank Phil Talavinia, athletic director, for this opportunity." Over the past three years, Elvert has also held various roles within Ohio Extreme Soccer Club which included being a director of multiple programs. As a Naperville, Ill. native, Elvert played collegiately at Division III Loras College in Dubuque, Iowa. During his tenure as a goalkeeper with the program, the team won three conference championships and made three NCAA Tournament appearances. In those three appearances, they made two runs to the "Final Four" and one trip to the "Sweet 16". He holds a United Soccer Coaches National Diploma and multiple goalkeeping diplomas. Elvert earned a bachelor's degree in sports management from Loras College in 2015 and a Master of Business Administration from Bluffton University in 2017. He takes over for James Kusak who served as head coach for two years.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. – Alyssa Krause has joined the Purdue Fort Wayne women's soccer program as an assistant coach. Krause comes to the Mastodons after serving as an assistant at Taylor University and Huntington University.

"I am incredibly excited to announce the addition of Alyssa to our women's soccer staff," Purdue Fort Wayne women's soccer head coach Jason Burr said. "Alyssa has all of the attributes we needed for this position. She is a person of high character and is very competitive. She brings a wealth of knowledge in sports performance and mental training which I think is going to be beneficial to every single one of our players. Finally, her ability to communicate with other members of our coaching staff, and our players in particular, will absolutely help move our program in a positive direction immediately this fall." Krause spent the 2016 and 2017 campaigns at Taylor University as an assistant coach. In 2017 the Trojans reached No. 16 in the NAIA Top 25. It marked the highest ranking in program history. The Trojans had an NAIA best four CoSIDA Academic All-District honors. The team featured three First-Team All-Crossroads league players. The 2016 club won a program-best 14 matches and earned three All-Crossroads League awards. She contributed to on-field coaching and training session planning. Krause was responsible for video editing, game breakdown and opponent scouting. She designed individual and small group training sessions. Krause also served as the head coach of the junior varsity program. Prior to Taylor, Krause spent two seasons as an assistant at Huntington. She designed and implemented the preseason and postseason strength and conditioning program. Krause devised game plans, strategies and tactics for the varsity and junior varsity teams. She executed individual and small group training sessions with athletes to further skill development. One year prior to coaching at Huntington, she assisted both the Huntington North High School soccer team and the Hoosier Futbol Club team. Krause played collegiately at Huntington, graduating in 2014 with a bachelor's degree in physical education and health. She earned a master's in applied exercise science in 2018 from Concordia (Chicago).

Dragons vanquish Cubs 6-5 in series opener

Austin Filiere hits fifth home run of 2018 in loss

South Bend, IN: Much like each game against the West Michigan Whitecaps in the previous series, the South Bend Cubs out-hit their opponent. Against the Dayton Dragons on Thursday night, the Cubs controlled the first three innings, but five straight Dragons runs through the middle innings led the Cubs to the series opening loss.

With Midwest League All-Star Brendan King taking the mound for his third start with the club, South Bend aimed to bring their second half record against the Dragons to 5-0 after sweeping them in four games at Fifth Third Field. The Dragons got on the board early in the 1st inning at 1-0, but that was quickly answered by South Bend with the tying run in the bottom of the 1st.

Taking complete control in the bottom of the 3rd inning, South Bend plated three runs on four straight base hits against starter Tyler Mondile. With Mondile being knocked out of the game after just three innings, South Bend looked to be in position to win their 39th game of the year.

Possessing the commanding 4-1 lead heading to the 4th, Dayton began to climb back against King. The right hander did not record an out in the frame and needed the help of the bullpen to get out of the inning. Reliever Enrique De Los Rios allowed two runs in the 4th that both were charged to King.

Dayton did not miss a beat in the 5th either. Scoring two more runs in the 5th inning, along with another in the 6th, they came all the way back to lead by two at 6-4. For the next two frames, the game went quiet. Eventually, the bottom of the 9th snuck up on the Cubs. Needing two to tie, and three to win, they came up against Dayton closer John Ghyzel.

Ghyzel, tied with South Bend's Brian Glowicki in the Midwest League lead in saves, looked for the final three outs. To lead off the inning, Austin Filiere clobbered his 5th home run over the left field wall to cut the lead in half. With nobody out, it was a 6-5 game.

The Cubs were unable to get anything else started against the righty Ghyzel. He retired the next three in a row to pick up his 14th save. With the loss, the Cubs fall back to under .500 at 38-39 on the campaign.

They will have the opportunity to tie the series tomorrow night at 7:35 p.m. when the same two clubs square off in game two. Right hander Rollie Lacy is expected to start for the Cubs.

.Sam Beal Performs in Front of All 32 NFL Teams

KALAMAZOO, Mich.- Defensive Back Sam Beal

worked out in front of over 50 NFL scouts and representatives, including two general managers, Thursday, June 28 at Waldo Stadium. Beal is one of three players who is entering the 2018 NFL Supplemental Draft which will take place on Wednesday, July 11 at 1 p.m. ET. Beal measured at just over six feet and 178 pounds with a 72.75 wingspan and nine-inch hands at Thursday's Pro Day. He started the afternoon with a 37 inch vertical jump and a 10-foot-6 broad jump.

In his first outdoor event, Beal posted times of 4.4 seconds (wind) and 4.51 in the 40-yard dash. His short shuttle was recorded at 4.09 and his 3-cone drill was clocked at 7.11 seconds. "He's gotta feel good about the times he put up," said Western Michigan head coach Tim Lester. "This is a measurable event, but the film speaks for itself, and the film was obviously good enough that they're all here to see those measurables and make sure they check out. "He's a special athlete, and he didn't have any rest today," Lester said. "That's the hardest part about today. At the combine, you do these drills and then have 45 minutes before you do another drill, but he was a one-man show today, so I'm sure he's tired." All 32 NFL teams were present to watch Beal's workout. Among them was Cleveland Browns general manager John Dorsey and Brian Gutekunst, general manager of the Green Bay Packers. Beal earned three letters at Western Michigan and was a Second Team All-Mid-American Conference selection this past season as a junior. He finished 2017 with two interceptions, one forced fumble, 26 tackles, 3.0 tackles for loss and 10 pass breakups. There have been 43 players selected in the NFL Supplemental Draft since its inception in 1977. The two other players joining Beal in this year's draft are former Mississippi State DB Brandon Bryant and former Virginia Tech CB Adonis Alexander. The last player chosen was OT Isaiah Battle as a fifth round pick in 2015 by the St. Louis Rams. If selected, Beal would be the first player chosen in the Supplemental Draft from Western Michigan. WMU had two players taken in the NFL Draft in April – left tackle Chukwuma Okorafor (3rd round, Pittsburgh) and defensive back Darius Phillips (5th round, Cincinnati).
